

Is your classroom ready for active learning? Consider the following activities common in active learning classrooms, and then assess a learning space with which you are familiar.

ACTIVITY	What works?	What doesn't work?
Small group collaboration
Large group discussion and instruction
Use of technology to gather, process, and synthesize learning
Use of technology to share, present, and critique learning
Independent study
Presentation of learning to larger community
Experimentation and hands-on learning
